Course Description and Purpose

Welcome to the Sociology of Gender! In this course we'll be examining the subtleties of sex and gender, both within Western culture and cross-culturally. We'll begin by looking at the various ways that bodies, genders, femininities and masculinities are constructed in societies. We'll then look at the ways that gender is performed, complicated, blurred, and broken down. Finally, we'll learn about the complex and multiple interactions of gender and sexuality, and how we form - and are given - identities that center around our sexual choices and expressions of gender.

Please read this entire syllabus. The syllabus is a contract between students and instructor. It provides an overview of the expectations for this class, as well as what you can expect for your assignments. It also includes my contact information, technology information for the course, and grading and course policies. By continuing to take this course, you are agreeing to the terms and conditions of this class. I'm looking forward to a productive semester, so please read this syllabus carefully and make sure this is the right section of this course for you.

Course Goals

In this course, students will learn how gender is determined and structured by societies, various sociological theories and approaches to gender - including femininities, masculinities studies, and queer theories of gender - and how gender, sexual sexuality, and other markers of identity intersect every day in the lives of people in late modernity. We also look at major social and cultural antecedents of modern gender, and how history, social structures, and personal interactions with gender expectations influence our decisions around gender.

Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives

Students will be able to:

- CO1. Identify major concepts in the sociological approach to the study of gender
- CO2. Analyze how gender is interconnected with other aspects of life and identity
- CO3. Investigate the role of different historical, social, and cultural contexts in shaping how human beings experience their gendered lives and interactions

- CO4. Apply their expanded understanding of these various lived identities, and histories, of gender in society to their academic and social approaches to human social experience

Expectations of the Course

Attendance

You are expected to come to class every day that it meets. A portion of your grade is determined by class participation and turning in assignments in person; attendance is required to accomplish this. Accordingly, all undocumented absences are considered unexcused. I do understand however that cars break down, life opportunities arise, and minor catastrophes must occasionally be attended to in-person. You can have two unexcused absences in the course with no grade penalty. (You do not need to contact the instructor to report an unexcused absence.)

If you have a medical emergency or documented illness (such as Covid), if you must be excused for a religious holiday, or if you have a serious family emergency to which you must attend, please bring, or send me, documentation for your absence as soon as possible, so you may be excused as per University policy. Please provide documentation in your initial email if possible, and then view your Modules on Canvas to see what work you will need to make up. (Please do not ask the instructor if you will "miss anything" in class that day, as the answer is "yes"; the readings and assigned work you will miss are on Canvas. The instructor does not post lecture notes online, but students may upload their class notes.) Also, if you're a student athlete, please bring, or send me, documentation of any events that you are required to attend, so you may be excused for these (and only these) event-related absences.

Late Work and Make-Up Policy:

Late work will not be accepted for this class - nor will make-up exams be given - without a documented, university-accepted, excused reason for the absence. See attendance policy for acceptable, excusable absences. If you need to make-up an exam or assignment due to an excused absence, please provide the instructor with the appropriate documentation for your absence, and ask the instructor, in-person or via email, when the exam or assignment can be rescheduled for you (this must be done within one week of the missed exam or assignment, and before the last week of the semester; make-up work will not be accepted during finals week.)

Remote Communication and Instruction:

If, for any reason, our face-to-face course cannot continue meeting as regularly scheduled, this course will become a remote learning course which requires internet access and the use of digital technology such as a computer and the use of various websites. If we need to move to remote learning, I will contact you via your Canvas Inbox, and course content will be posted in weekly modules on our Canvas pages. Should you need to contact me, your instructor, you can do so via your Canvas inbox, or by sending me a direct email at aclar006@fiu.edu.

Assignments

All work for this course must be original work intended to address each individual assignment and not work that was previously done for other courses. Each week's readings and films must be viewed or read before that week's class meeting.

This is a hybrid course, so you'll also need to use the Canvas Learning Management System regularly. Your syllabus, video links, course readings, content for hybrid assignments, and any other materials you'll need for the course will be found on the class Canvas site. As a hybrid course, half of your course content will be online - on Canvas - and half of the course content will be in class. Both physical attendance and online work are required for this course.

Course assessments include two essays exams, written in class, five required Hybrid Assignments, written in class and based on online course content, and one Final Quiz that will be completed online during Finals Week.

Assessments

- In order to mitigate any issues with your computer and online assessments, it is very important that you take the "Practice Quiz" from each computer you will be using to take your graded quizzes and exams. It is your responsibility to make sure your computer meets the minimum hardware requirements.
- All assessments will auto-submit when (1) the timer runs out OR (2) the closing date/time is reached, whichever happens first. For example, if a quiz has a closing time of 5:00 pm but the student begins the exam at 4:55 pm, the student will only have 5 minutes to complete the quiz.
- Assessments in this course are not compatible with mobile devices and should not be taken through a mobile phone or a tablet. If you need further assistance please contact FIU Canvas Help Team.

Course Communication

Outside of class meetings, you can contact your Instructor via Canvas mail or personal email (the address given at the link at the top of this syllabus.) When you send me an email it's important that you include your full name and which course you're in (I have five of them!) Any emails received after 5pm, and emails received on the weekends, will be addressed on the next work day (usually Monday. If there is a true and actual dire emergency, I will address your email immediately, but things like late work, absences, or even missed exams are not actual emergencies.)

Communication in this course will take place via the Canvas Inbox. Check out the Canvas Conversations Tutorial or Canvas Guide to learn how to communicate with your instructor and peers using Announcements, Discussions, and the Inbox. I will respond to all correspondences within 24 hours.
