

FALL 2025 COLLOQUIUM SERIES

GSS-SAGGSA* Colloquium: Afro-Venezuelans, Bolivarianismo, and Pan- African World-Making in the 21st Century

Layla D. Brown
Northeastern University

Friday, October 24
2-4 PM

In person and virtual

Dr. Layla D. Brown is an Assistant Professor of Cultural Anthropology & Africana Studies at Northeastern University. Her research focuses on Pan-African, Socialist, and Feminist movements in Venezuela, the US, and the broader African Diaspora. Dr. Brown was a 2020-2021 Research & Writing Fellow at the Johannesburg Institute for Advanced Study and a 2021-2022 Senior Research Fellow at the Käte Hamburger Kolleg /Centre for Global Cooperation Research.

Location: FIU Modesto A.
Maidique Campus,
MANGO 222

Click to Join Zoom:

<https://fiu.zoom.us/j/85410714480#success>

* Department of Global & Sociocultural Studies
Sociology, Anthropology, and Geography Graduate
Student Association

Steven J. Green
School of International
& Public Affairs

Co-sponsors: FIU African & African Diaspora Studies Program | Wolfsonian Public Humanities Lab
Open to all students